For example, we use a third party for:

- Supplying the internet and intranet environment;
- Supplying the (financial) administration;
- Supplying newsletters and invitations.

We never pass on personal data to other parties with whom we have not concluded a processing agreement. We of course make the necessary agreements with these (processor) parties to guarantee the security of your personal data. Furthermore, we will not provide your data to other parties, unless this is legally required and permitted. An example of this is if the police requests (personal) data from us in the context of an investigation. In this case, we must comply and are as such obliged to provide this data. We can also share personal data with third parties if you give us written permission to do so.

Within the EU

We do not provide personal data to parties located outside the EU.

Minors

We only process personal data of minors (persons under 16 years of age) if written permission has been given by the parent, caregiver or legal representative.

Storage period

Adexpo BV does not store personal data longer than necessary for the purpose for which it was provided or required by law.

Security

We have taken appropriate technical and organisation measures to protect your personal data from unlawful processing, including the following;

- All persons who could gain access to your data on behalf of Adexpo BV are bound to treat this confidentially.
- We use a username and password policy for all our systems;
- We use pseudonymity and encrypt personal data if there is a reason to do so;
- We make backups of the personal data to be able to recover these in case of physical or technical incidents;
- We regularly test and evaluate our measures;
- Our employees are informed of the importance of the protection of personal data.

Rights regarding your data

You have the right to inspect, rectify or delete the personal data we have received from you. You can also object to the processing of your personal data (or part of it) by us or one of our processors. You also have the right to have us transfer the personal data you provided to yourself or to another party on your behalf. We'll ask you to identify yourself before we can respond to such requests.

If we are allowed to process your personal data on the basis of your permission to do so, you always have the right to withdraw this permission.

Cookies

Cookies are small, simple text-files that are placed on your computer, tablet, or mobile phone as soon as ADEXPO's websites or apps are used. Cookies are used, for example, to store user names, passwords and personal settings, so you won't need to enter your data again on your next visit.

Applications for cookies by Adexpo

ADEXPO makes use of cookies and of comparable technologies for its services, with various objectives.

ADEXPO utilises cookies to facilitate the use of our website, and to store your settings and preferences. These cookies are not linked to a profile that regards you.

Furthermore, granted your permission, our advertisers place "tracking cookies" on your computer. They use these cookies to keep track of the pages you visit, so as to construct a profile of your on-line behaviour. This profile is also constructed on the basis of comparable information they obtain about your visits to other websites on which they advertise. This profile is not linked to your name, address, e-mail address and other matters that are known to us, but is only intended to align ads with your profile so they will be as relevant to you as possible.

Through our website, a cookie from the American company Google is placed, as a component of their Analytics-services. We make use of these services to keep track of, and get reports on, how visitors use the website. Google can provide this information to third parties in case Google is legally obligated to do so, or to the extent third parties process the information on Google's behalf. We exert no influence on these matters.

The information Google collects is rendered anonymous as much as possible. Your IP-address is emphatically not forwarded. The information is transferred to Google that stores it on servers in the United States.

You have the right to ask to inspect, correct or remove your data. For further information see our contact page. To avoid improper use, we may ask you to identify yourself adequately. In case it regards inspection of personal data linked to a cookie, you will have to send a copy of the relevant cookie along with your request.

Use of cookies

Without placement of the necessary cookies, ADEXPO does not permit users to utilise the services. However, ADEXPO will ask as a standard procedure to agree with the application of all cookies put to use by ADEXPO.

This information was published first in May 2018. Possibly, and notwithstanding our efforts, the above description is not fully comprehensive. Its completion is being worked on. In case you encounter a cookie that has not been described, you can report it to ADEXPO through privacy@adexpo.nl.

Remove cookies

You can always check and erase cookies, and you can arrange the settings on your browser so as to block cookies. This does entail that you'll have to select your preferences on each visit anew, and that certain components of the website will not work (properly). Blocking or erasing cookies, parenthetically, does not mean you will not see any more ads.

Besides cookies, our services may also make use of similar technologies to store and read data on your devices. Just like cookies, these technologies are used to store a unique identifying code for your device, which can subsequently be used to track your behaviour. That identifying code can, for example, be based on your browser settings combined with your IP-address. In case you do not appreciate your behaviour being tracked, you can switch off this function through the Do-No-Track-function on your browser. Removing cookies does not mean that your behaviour will not be tracked anymore.

Complaints

If you have a complaint about the processing of your personal data, we ask you to contact us directly about this. If we can't solve the problem together, then we of course sincerely regret this. You always have the right to submit a complaint to the Personal Data Authority, this is the supervisory authority in the field of privacy protection.

Modifying the privacy and cookie statement

ADEXPO reserves itself the right to modify this privacy and cookie statement. Therefore, regularly consult the privacy and cookie statement.
